

Cosmic OverLord JadeFire's Message 12.02.2019

Beloved, it is very important for you to receive and spread this message, as this is a period of much consequence and significance. The global energies till around the Spring Equinox are orchestrating events towards a very specific and sharply honed focus – elimination of rage. The term 'global warming' from the perspective of this message is quite different from your understanding. We are looking at the tremendous heat being generated by the global community through rage that is either expressed violently or expressed as unspoken waves of energy. The balance of fire element in almost all persons has become so askew that it is affecting, very severely, the fire element in nature, and shall create many fires that could potentially be dangerous for many. As always, our warnings are not to be heard through the filter of fear. Rather, hear this with consciousness and awareness, and with a firm commitment to change. Do not be concerned about the changes that others shall or shall not make. This change, as all change is, is for you to make personally. Individually. Consistently. Diligently. This change you make for your wellbeing, and for the wellbeing of your planet. You can never change yourself for another, and you can never ask another to change for you. So it is, with this very significant change too. Spread this message to as many people as you can, but that is where your responsibility towards others ends. After that, read the message for yourself, and make the appropriate changes in self.

From January of 2019 to around the time of the Spring Equinox is the period of clearance. In this period, though other non-productive energies shall also be addressed to a certain degree, the primary focus shall be upon the elimination of the rage that dwells within each. The absence of its outward expression must not be mistaken to mean absence of rage. The energies of this period facilitate its expression and release; the greater is the resistance to the release, the stronger is the force needed to be exerted by the energies. How will the global energies exert this force, you ask? With the complete co-operation of your Higher Self, events are carefully orchestrated to facilitate this process. This shall be done by introducing people and events into your life who shall bring forth strong reactions of rage. Of course, rage is a reactionary energy that arises only when there is a very close relationship between you and the subject of rage, so persons and events that closely affect you shall be the prime facilitators. This close relationship might be a working relationship or a personal one. It might seem to you that you are not 'close' to this person/event, but do note, beloved, that we are not using the words 'intimate', 'familial', 'friendly', and the like. For there to be the energy of rage, there has to be 'closeness' – enough closeness to trigger deep and strong reactions.

There are many who shall respond to this message by instantly saying 'I don't feel rage'. They might like to term it as anger, annoyance, intolerance, impatience, or irritation. There might also be those who are silent about this, converting some of the energy to submissiveness, resignation, defeat, frustration, and so on. We urge them not to place resistance to this period of clearance by attempting to gloss over the reality by the use of words that seem more 'comfortable' but could be misleading.

This energy that is harbored within, need not be something that is the here and now. It is likely that it has been harbored for a very long time, indeed. Pay close attention to what you are experiencing in this period of clearance, and use these unpleasant events to guide you towards the elimination of rage, even though that is not what you might believe you feel.

How will you eliminate this rage? The first step is acknowledgment, even though you might not intellectually be cognizant of it. The second step is to identify the person or event that you might probably be blaming for this 'bad feeling'. Instantly begin to write 'I release ----- from all blame. I take responsibility for my wellbeing.' The more times you write this, and the longer that you write this, the quicker shall you be genuinely ready to move to the third and final step. The third and final step requires an understanding of why the rage exists – for example, the events caused you to feel rejected, or you felt disrespected, lied to, betrayed – understand the rage. When you have understood the rage, use a method to release, both, the rage and the original emotion out of your system. You can use traditional forms of therapy, spiritual counselling, EFT, Bach Flower Remedies --- any method of full release that you resonate with, and with which can work consistently for some time.

The Spring Equinox of 2019 brings with it the promise of much metamorphosis and positive development. Make space in your life for this by gently, but firmly, expelling the rage. Make 2019 the year you shall look back upon with the pride of attainment and the joy of fulfillment.

We Love You. AllWays.
